THE POLITICAL TURMOIL.

Sir John Thompson Said to Have his Cabinet Slate Ready for the Governor.

Ontario Protestants Forming Protective Associations—Mr. Carling's Case.

Probable List of Cabinet Members—Some Changes of Offices Decided Upon.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—There was nothing new in the political situation today. Wood of Brockville was sent for to-day and had an interview with Sir John Thompson, returning home afterwards. He may get a comptrollership.

Lord Stanley left Toronto to-day and will be here to-night. Sir John will lay the list of ministers before him on Monday.

Protective Protestant Associations are being started all over Western Ontario, one in London having 500 members. This may prevent London being opened, so that Carling may remain where he is.

The cabinet list is about the same to-day, with the exception that Angers will be Secretary of State and Patterson Minister of Militia.

What to do with Western Ontario is still the problem to be solved.

BY WAY OF QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Dec. 3.—Sir John Thompson, the new Premier of Canada, completed the formation of his cabinet this morning. The constitution of the new Government is: Sir John Thompson, Premier and Minister of Justice; Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Finance; John Haggart, Railways and Canals; C. H. Tupper, Marine and Fisheries; J. A. Ouimet, Public Works; Sir A. P. Caron, Postmaster-General; T. M. Daly, Minister of the Interior; John Costigan, Agriculture; A. R. Angers, Militia; J. C. Patterson, Secretary of State; J. J. Curran, Solicitor-General. Mr. Angers retires from the Lieutenant-Governorship of Quebec province to become Minister of Militia, and will be succeeded by J. A Chapleau, late Minister of Customs. The retiring Premier, Sir John Abbott, now ill in Europe, remains a minister without a portfolio. The new ministers will probably be sworn in by Lord Stanley on Monday, and a couple of other minor cabinet offices may be created. The appointment of Chapleau to the governorship of Quebec may produce another political revolution here. Premier DeBoucherville will refuse to serve under him.

The New Naval Commander.

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—Mr. John Shirley, an officer in the royal navy, passed through here to-day on the way to Victoria, B.C., where he takes a position in the naval department. The successor to Admiral Hotham as commander at Victoria, Rear Admiral F. T. Stephenson, C.B., is well known in Canada as commander of the gunboat Huron, sent up the St. Lawrence into the lakes during the Fenian disturbances. Rear Admiral Stephenson also commanded a ship in the Arctic expedition of 1875.

The Largest on Record.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Mr. W. W. Ogilvie to-day received 12 barges containing 192,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat, being the last to come by water this season. The schooner Glenora will winter at Kingston with her cargo. The above makes a total of 1,354,000 bushels received by Mr. Ogilvie from the present crop, being the largest crop ever received by any one firm.

Suffering Among Fishermen.

HALIFAX, Dec. 3.—News comes of privation along the western shores of Nova Scotia on account of the failure of the fisheries. There was no bait when the fish made their appearance, and bait became abundant when the fish disappeared. The winter has only begun and already there are signs that aid will be needed to prevent distress.

The St. Lawrence Closed.

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—The Department of Marine having received information that the last grain barges for Montreal had arrived, instructions were yesterday given to contractors to take the light ships to Lake St. Louis into winter quarters and lift the buoys. All light ships and buoys between Montreal and Quebec have been taken up, and the navigation of the St. Lawrence may be considered closed, except between Montreal and Sorel, where the search lights will be kept up for another week to accommodate steamers still running between those two places.

Sunk By the Ice.

BURK'S FALLS, Ont., Dec. 3.—What came very near being a serious fatality happened to the steamer Winona of the Muskoka and Nipissing Navigation Co., yesterday. While navigating the Magaletawan, the ice cut through the bottom and the vessel sank rapidly. The water soon put out the fires. The passengers had a very narrow escape as the lake is wide and deep. The baggage of many of the passengers was ruined. The steamer lies on the beach near Almic harbor, and the Glenrose has gone to her assistance.

Nobody Like James.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—A deputation of workingmen will, on Monday, wait on Mayor McShane and ask him to accept office for a third term. A letter has been received from Alderman Rolland, now in London on the city's business, in which he states that the loan negotiations are proceeding favorably. Further than that, he is a candidate for the mayoralty.

A Dinner or Meeting.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3. — Sir John Thompson is to be extended an invitation for either a public meeting or a dinner, as may be found most advisable, to be held under the auspices of the Junior Conservatives and Sir John A. Macdonald club. This was decided at a joint meeting of the executives of these clubs yesterday.

The Tie That Doesn't Bind

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—An unusual number of divorce cases have been filed for hearing before the special session. The latest is the application of John J. Harding, of London, Ontario, for a bill of divorce from his wife, who "skipped" with another man and is now living with him in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Wm. Collette has an action for $5000 damages against the Montreal Elevator Co., for the death of her husband, an engineer in their service, who was killed by the explosion of a boiler.

The Borden Murders.

TAUNTON, Mass., Dec. 3.—Lizzie Borden has been indicted by the grand jury on three counts for the murder of her father and mother.

After Fifty-Three Years.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—The well-known wholesale drygoods firm of McKay Bros., after an existence of nearly 53 years, is about to close up business.

A Bullet Social.

WHEELING, W.Va., Dec. 3.—A negro, Cornelius Coffee, shot two white men, one of them a constable, during a quarrel at Keystone Monday and fled to Pocahontas. He was captured and brought back to Keystone. A mob met the sheriff and posse at the station, took the negro and leading him a short distance from the station bound him to a tree and riddled him with bullets. The same day a constable named Brooks was assassinated while guarding two prisoners at the jail. The murderer is unknown.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Fisherman Wagner Possibly Murdered—Knights of Pythias' New Hall.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Dec. 3.—It is twelve days since John Wagner, the fisherman, was last seen alive, as far as has been proved. Unflagging efforts have been made to find out what became of him, but all have proved futile. The finding of his hat in the river off Eighth street leads to the theory of accidental drowning, but now the police are beginning to think he might have met his death at the hands of some man, the hat being thrown into the river at this point to divert suspicion. If, as was surmised, Wagner went down to his boat after leaving the Caledonian hotel to go fishing, he would not have gone along East Front street, in the opposite direction from where his boat always lay. The theory of foul play will possibly prove correct.

Westminster was engaged to play the Vancouver Rugby team this afternoon, but a message received at the last minute says Brockton Point grounds are under water.

Sing Kee, mixed up in the Rivers Inlet case, was taken to Nanaimo to-day.

The K. of P. will dedicate their fine new hall on the 19th of February. There will be a big gathering of delegates.

SEVERELY SIMPLE.

The Funeral Obsequies of Jay Gould Will be Unmarked by any Extravagance.

Annie Besant's Views on Death—A Farm Laborer Heir to Half a Million.

Ocean Liner Spree's Shaft Broken—Great Cave-in at a Mining Village.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Ex-Judge Dillon and Dr. Munn held a consultation with the members of the Gould family this morning concerning the funeral arrangements. It was determined that the funeral should take place at four on Monday afternoon. The officiating clergyman will be Rev. Dr. Paxton, assisted by Chancellor McCracken of New York University, and probably by Rev. Dr. Teary. Mr. Terry is pastor of the Dutch Reformed church, which Gould attended, and on that account he has been invited to participate in the services which will be a simple Episcopal service with the addition of an extemporaneous prayer by the officiating clergymen. There will be no pall-bearers and no addresses of any kind. Music will be supplied by the members of Dr. Paxton's church, consisting of Mme. Clementine de Veresalio, Mrs. Carl Alves, Mr. Hayne Clark and Mr. Beshtel. This will be the programme: Cardinal Newman's hymn, "Lead Kindly Light"; "Nearer My God to Thee." After the music the friends of the family will be given an opportunity to look at the remains. The casket will be of plain solid oak, covered with fine black broadcloth, handles of oxidized silver, and it will bear oxidized silver plate with the simple inscription: "Jay Gould, born May 22, 1836. Died December 2, 1892." The interment will be in the mausoleum at Woodlawn, where Mrs. Gould is buried. The architect of the tomb, H. G. French, visited Woodlawn to-day to examine the mausoleum to make the necessary arrangements for the reception of the body.

Murder on the High Seas.

SAN DIEGO, Cala., Dec. 3.—Captain John Smith, who returned last evening from a cruise in the schooner Lou along the lower Mexican coast in search of guano, was arrested on the charge of murder. Christopher Silberry, a boy 15 years old, swears that he witnessed an altercation that arose between Smith and George E. Neale, a 15-year-old boy on the night of Nov. 25th, at the end of which Smith threw Neale overboard and shot him while struggling in the water. The dispute arose over the captain falsely charging the boy with having cut a boat adrift in order to compel the schooner to return to San Diego. The Captain refuses to talk.

Killed His Mother-in-Law.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 3.—Kit Carson, son of the famous scout of the same name, who was recently found guilty at Las Animas of manslaughter in killing his mother-in-law, was convicted yesterday of assault with intent to murder his father-in-law. He killed the woman while gunning for the man.

SHEEP SLAUGHTERED.

Farmers of Nanoose Organize for Protection—A Lunatic at Large.

NANAIMO, Dec. 3.—The farmers of Nanoose district are bitterly complaining of the manner in which the sheep are being slaughtered and stolen. So great is the indignation felt that all the farmers have combined for their mutual protection and all persons will be prohibited from shooting on the land unless permission is first obtained from one of their number. The Sechelt Indians are credited with the depredations, and the Government will be requested to render aid to put a stop to the practice that has been carried on for so long.

Robinson, the saw filer, has again been placed in jail for safe keeing as he is not considered accountable for his actions. This makes the third time he has been taken care of by the police and he is to be again sent to the asylum at Westminster. The officials should keep him there this time until a permanent cure is effected.

The firemen have announced their intention of giving a grand masquerade ball in the Opera House on Monday, Dec. 12.

Four of the crew of the bark Theobald deserted the vessel Thursday night, and as the vessel is manned by a scab crew it is surmised the ever watchful Seamen's Union know something about it.

Two deaths occurred at the hospital yesterday. J. A. Hodsdon, from Salt Spring Island, and A. C. Clouston, a half brother of C. C. McKenzie, M.P.P. The latter was a member of the Masonic order and the funeral will take place under the auspices of the Masonic lodge on Sunday.

Last night part of the old slope at Southfield mine caved in. The cave is near the mouth and directly under the E. & N. Railway track. Standing on the track only a crack in the gravel is noticed, but from the left a person can see right down into the rock. It will have to be fixed right away else it might cause a serious accident. This morning's passenger was flagged and went over it slowly, though the light engine which drew the train made the bed sag.

THE COMOX SCHOOL.

By Government Instructions, the Wishes of the Trustees are Overridden.

COMOX, Dec. 1.—The Government has taken the control of the school building here out of the hands of the school trustees, sending instructions to Mr. S. Creech, the Government agent, to close it forthwith. He demanded the keys and although the school trustees were anxious to keep it open at least till the Christmas holidays they had to yield. The school was therefore closed this (Thursday) afternoon.

THAT TELEGRAPH LINE.

The Ridiculous Action of the Dominion Government in Comox District

UNION, B. C., Dec. 2.—The steamer each week brings a number of men to work in the mines. The San Mateo has left for San Francisco with a full cargo of coal and the bark Richard III. is expected in at any moment.

The people of Union and Comox were naturally indignant when they heard that the work on the telegraph line was stopped. If the Dominion Government had any push the line would have been completed months ago. It will cost nearly as much to repair it in the spring as it would to run a new line. The member for Vancouver district should see that his constituents are treated with more consideration and urge upon the Dominion Government the necessity of finishing the line immediately. It is a great drawback to the Union Coal Co., and the newspaper, the Comox Weekly News.

Eighteen inches of snow has fallen here, and old timers predict as much snow as in 1889, when 15 feet fell in Comox.

S. H. Willis, secretary-treasurer of the local board of the Canadian Mutual Loan and Investment Co. in Vancouver, is up here on business. He has succeeded in forming local boards in Union and Comox. It will prove a convenience to the miners as there is no savings bank of any kind here.

H. P. Collis, manager of the company's store, has returned from Victoria. He has brought with him a large consignment of goods to supply the increased demand owing to the increased population.

Dr. W. J. Young has been appointed resident physician in Comox. The appointment is a popular one.

UNSTABLE GROUND.

Probability of a Great Cave-in Near a Coal Mine.

HAZELTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—The wildest alarm was created yesterday by dropping of the surface of the ground. The affected portions are directly over the Honeybrook mine which has been burning for more than a month. Since the outbreak of the fire, it was rumored that an extensive cave in was imminent, and that the village of Honebrook would be destroyed. By officials and others this idea was laughed at. It was impossible, they said, and people took confidence and staid at home. The battle with the flames went on for weeks. The surface disturbances were not noticed and the fire was gradually brushed from the gangway. Last Saturday it was thought to have been entirely extinguished. Preparations for continuing the work in the mines were made. The men who left the village came back to secure their old places, and speedy resumption of work was looked for. On Monday fire was again discovered in one of the breasts. It had already made such headway that the workmen were forced to fly for their lives and the work of flooding the mine began. At about noon yesterday the dreaded symptoms of a cave-in were noticed. Men working in the slip rushed hastily to the surface and soon afterwards the crash came. A settling of the surface took place immediately after, and the people rushed from their homes. The affected part covers several acres, and a few of the dwellings were over it. Order was again restored in the village and the people returned to their homes, but are living in them under terrible apprehension.

The steamship Yaquina, Capt. Hunter, has arrived at Seattle from Alaska. The Yaquina will tie up there for the winter and the City of Topeka will cover the Alaska route alone.

The steam schooner Mischief is still halibut fishing, and doing fairly well. Capt. Petit will probably organize a company himself and go into the business. He has been making a study of the haunts of the fish and thinks he could nearly always get a good supply.

CANADIAN NOTES.

News by Mail and Wire from all Parts of the Dominion.

Sir Adams George Archibald is dangerously ill.

The steam disinfector purchased by the Government from the Toronto corporation will be erected at Halifax, ready for any emergency in the spring.

Edward Farrer has been in Montreal for a few days. He ridicules the rumor that he has been in secret conclave with Mercier, Tarte and Elgin Myers, and that developments are to follow.

An important meeting of the Montreal Conservative Club and Sir John A. Macdonald Club was held on Friday, and primary arrangements were made for calling a convention of all the Conservative clubs in the Dominion, to be held here on January 11th, the birthday of the late Premier.

The Governor-General, whose brother the Earl of Derby was reported in a London cablegram as being so seriously ill that Lord Stanley had been summoned to his bedside, says that word has been received that while the Earl is confined to his room he is not dangerously ill. Lord Stanley is heir to the title and estates of the Earl.

Leading Canadian papermakers have formed a combine in order to stop the cutting in prices. Those who have joined are: Buntin & Son, Montreal; Canada Paper Company, Montreal; Dominion Paper Company, Montreal; E. B. Mary W. Allan is suing Collector of Customs Attwood, of Shelburne, for $62,535.98 damages alleged to have been incurred through the seizure of the American ship Bridgewater on July 7, 1887, by reason of which she was deprived of the use of the vessel for 81 days. The case is on trial in the Supreme Court, and the result is expected to decide the legality of the seizure of American vessels by the Canadian customs authorities.

Dr. Robert Bell, assistant director of the Geological survey, recently returned from another season's work in that section of Algoma between Sudbury and Mississianqua. He says that the Huronian formation there is the richest economically in the world. It is 700 miles long and 50 miles wide. All the known minerals except coal can be found in it. It was here, near the Wallace mines, that nickel was first discovered over 40 years ago.

The Hon. Hector Fabre, Canadian Commissioner in France, has succeeded in getting a Canadian Frenchman out of jail under peculiar circumstances. Villedary-Dumaine, a young Frenchman, who for some years was night watchman at the Parliament buildings at Quebec, went home to Janicot, Dordogne, to visit his mother. He took with him his wife, a French-Canadian woman, and his children. On the way out from New York to Cherbourg, Madame Dumaine gave birth to a child. On arriving at home Dumaine, who had neglected to perform his military service, was arrested and incarcerated at Limoges until he stood his trial before a council of war. The Canadian Commissioner, informed of the fact, wrote to M. de Freycinet, Minister of War, and stated bad circumstances had prevented Dumaine from benefiting by the Amnesty law of 1889. In answer to his letter, Mr. Fabre was informed by Col. Pamard, chief of the Cabinet of War, that proceedings had been discontinued. The man has been liberated.

Murdered by His Wife.

SEATTLE, Dec. 2.—Colonel Thomas Henderson Boyd, the well-known newspaper man, was shot and instantly killed by his wife in a fit of jealous rage at his boarding house here at 10:20 p. m. Mr. Boyd formerly worked on the Tacoma Ledger and the Seattle Press-Times. For some months past he has been editor of the Olympia Olympian. He came here to-night on a visit. Mrs. Boyd was calm and collected when arrested immediately after the shooting. She will not talk. She emptied a five-chamber revolver, two shots taking effect near the ear, the rest lodging in the bed and wall. Boyd was in his street clothes at the time and had evidently just come in. Mrs. Boyd is of Spanish extraction and Mr. Boyd has been afraid of her for some time past.

The German Debate.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—During the debate on the budget yesterday, Dr. Buhl, leader of the National Liberals, said his party would vote for the demands of the government for money for military purposes as far as compatible with the vital interests of the army bill, but to go to the full extent was impracticable. In the course of his speech Dr. Buhl complained of the inadequate share Germany had taken in the celebrations in honor of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. Chancellor von Caprivi said that Germany was worthily represented at the Columbus fetes at Genoa and in Spain. Herr Liebnecht, socialist leader, in a speech urged that the militia system be established in Germany, and that political morality be improved.

Not Wanted in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 2.—The Russian censor has prohibited the entrance into Russia of the Frankfort Gazette, the Kreuzen Zeitung, the Neue Frei Presse and the Vossische Zeitung. This is supposed to be in consequence of their too free criticism of Russian affairs, and especially their adverse comment on the Russian tariff on sundry articles which Germany has tried to get the Russian government to change, but without satisfactory results.

Mrs. Besant's Theosophical Lecture.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The largest audience ever gathered to hear a theosophical lecture filled Chickering Hall last night to welcome Mrs. Annie Besant, the great high priestess of theosophy. The audience packed the house and hung breathlessly on Mrs. Besant's words. Even sceptics were moved by the eloquence of her lecture, "Death and after." She declared that death was a legend, a superstition, a mediæval belief. There is no such thing as death; she declared that what is called death is but a new birth. She condemned the ordinary form of so-called spiritualism, and declared that theosophy did not countenance them. There are spiritual phenomena connected with theosophy, but not the humbug and quackery imposed upon the people so continuously. In the audience was a young disciple of theosophy who had come to New York from New Zealand just for a ten minute audience with Mrs. Besant. He arrived yesterday and left for London to-day.

Fox not Much Favored.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Irish circles in this city are not particularly pleased over the arrival of Dr. Joseph Francis Fox, who sits in the House of Commons for the Tullamore division of King's county, and whose mission is to reorganize the Irish National Federation of America, and to induce the sympathizers to make up a good-sized fund for the Anti-Parnellite section of the party. During the past week representative Irishmen in this city, who are sick and disgusted with the division in the ranks at home, have been in communication with individuals and organizations all over the country, that in the past were strong financial supporters of the Irish cause, and a general opinion has been gathered to the effect that no particular encouragement should be given to Delegate Fox. The ground is taken that there is a large fund, most of it subscribed in this country, now locked up in the Paris bank, and that if either faction is in need of finances it should bring about harmonious relations with the other faction, and thus enable the Paris fund to be drawn upon and utilized for the benefit of the cause.

The French Crisis.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—In his statement to President Carnot as to his reasons for not being able to form a cabinet, M. Brisson gives the principal cause of failure as the conflict between the judicial authorities in charge of the Panama prosecution and the investigation committee appointed by the Chamber of Deputies. It is reported that M. Cassimir Berrier has been requested by President Carnot to form a cabinet.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—M. Perrier will endeavor to form a cabinet. M. Ribot will accept the portfolio of Foreign Affairs and will decline any other office. M. Bourgeois holds fast to his refusal. This is thought to mean that Bourdeau and de Freycinet will not be invited.

Could not Bear Defeat.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 3.—Tom Watson, the third party leader in Georgia, who was recently defeated for re-election to Congress by J. C. Black of Augusta, called an indignation meeting to-day at Thomson, his home, McDuffie county, near this city. Mr. Watson's speech at the meeting was strongly partizan, and full of bitter denunciations of the Democrats, and urging his followers to stick together. He was not very sanguine of success in contesting Mr. Black's seat, but would try it. He said it would require at least $5000 for the contest. He was heartily cheered throughout. There was no excitement and the crowd dispersed quietly.

The Austrian Government Defeated.

VIENNA, Dec. 3.—Count Taafe, the Austrian premier, was defeated in Parliament to-day on the vote on the secret service fund. The vote stood 167 against, 146 for the motion. The defeat was accomplished by the German Liberals, who have been disgusted by Count Taafe's policy of favoring the Czechs, and especially by the prospect that a Czech will succeed to Count Kuenburg's place in the cabinet. Although intended by the German Liberals as a vote of no confidence, Count Taafe refuses to accept the result as such.

Japanese Sailors Drowned.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A dispatch to Lloyds from Hiogo dated to-day states that the British steamer Ravenna, which ran into and sank the Japanese warship Chichimarukan, proceeded to Nagasaki, at which place she will make repairs. It is reported that sixty of the crew of the warship were drowned. Her captain, chief engineer and 15 others were picked up by boats from the Ravenna. The owners of the steamer Greystoke have received notice that the vessel has been wrecked to-day at the mouth of the Elbe, and her crew of 23 persons have been drowned.

The Jesuits Snubbed.

ROME, Dec. 2.—The Pope has refused to allow the Jesuits to transfer their headquarters from Fiesole to this city. The Pope has modified the programme for the Jubilee pilgrimages so that no large bodies of pilgrims shall arrive here during the carnival. The Italian and Spanish pilgrimages, therefore, have been postponed.

Labouchere and the News.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—It is reported that Mr. Henry Labouchere has severed his connection with the Daily News and that his shares in the company, amounting to one-third of the capital stock, will be divided among the remaining proprietors, Mr. Arnold Morley and Mr. Oppenheimer.

Race Prejudice in the G.A.R.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 3.—Commander-in-Chief Weissert, of the Grand Army of the Republic, is contemplating a trip to the south at an early date for the purpose of making a personal investigation of the troubles in various states between the white and colored veterans. His views on the subject of the discord of races, so far as it affects the organization, are said to be more radical than those of his predecessor, General Palmer, of New York. He is determined that the colored element in the south shall be upheld, and that their rights to be admitted as members in white posts shall be conceded even at the cost of the withdrawal of every white southern veteran from the order. Not only this, but he is prepared to go so far as to disband those posts which persistently decline to recognize the colored comrades. All the indications point to the fact that under the new administration the coming year is destined to prove a decidedly lively one in Grand Army circles.

Peary's Goal the North Pole.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—A semi-official denial is given to the published report that Arctic Explorer Peary is to be financially backed by the Academy of Natural Science in his coming attempt to reach the North Pole. The effort of the Academy in the matter ended when it secured from Secretary Tracy a leave of absence for the explorer, and although the wealthy members of the institution, or some of them, will open their purses liberally for the object, Prof. Peary expects to raise the bulk of the fund needed by a series of lectures in different parts of the country to be delivered during the next three months.

Public Scrutiny Kills Them.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Statements made against the order of Amitie are now being received by the assignee, Frank P. Gallagher, and upon payment of the outstanding liabilities the concern will go out of existence. It is believed that there will be sufficient funds to return to the members a fair proportion of the assessments they have paid in for the past four years in the expectation that they would get a thousand dollars at the end of seven years, and five dollars a week whenever they were ill. The collapse of the order is directly traceable to the development in the case of the Iron Hall, which seems to have struck a death blow at a large majority of the beneficial societies of this region, good and bad alike.

Electric Sleighs and Wagons.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3.—C. J. Schminsky, of this city, has applied for a patent for an electric sleigh of his own invention. Stored electricity concealed beneath the seat furnishes the power, which is transmitted to a single wheel in front by means of an endless chain. The face of the wheel is provided with cutters that are imbedded in the snow to prevent the wheel from slipping. The inventor says he can attain a speed of 15 miles an hour with his motor. The invention is also claimed to be applicable to a wagon.

Trouble in Samoa.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says news has been received from Samoa to the effect that native insurgents have attacked English residents. Orders have been telegraphed to the commander of the Australian squadron to send the warship Rinha-Booma to Apia without delay.

The French in Dahomey.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Gen. Dodds states that the inhabitants of Waydah have declared submission to French authority. The general has returned to Porto Novo to prepare for complete occupation of Dahomey by the French.

From Poverty to Riches.

ST. JOHNSVILLE, N.Y., Dec. 3.—Eward Crouse, a native of Mindeville, has fallen heir to over $500,000 through the death of Edgar Crouse, the millionaire of Syracuse. Crouse is now working on a farm near Omaha, Neb.

"When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofulous sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which got so bad that the doctors cut the finger off, and later took off more than half my hand. HISTORY OF THE ERICSSON.

Various Vicissitudes That the Old Ship Went Through During Her Existence.

Her Launching Marked an Era in Navigation—In the American War.

By this time the wreckage of the ship Ericsson is scattered along the west coast. Since she stranded there have been some severe storms, which have doubtless completed the work of dismemberment. An interesting history of the old ship is given in the San Francisco Call of a recent date as follows:

There is no vessel in the American merchant marine that has had a more memorable career than the Ericsson. When she left the hands of her builders and slid off the stocks at Williamsburg, N.Y., in 1852, the event marked an era in navigation. The craft had been constructed under the personal supervision of John Ericsson, who was then occupying the position of one of the greatest mechanical engineers of the time. A quarter of a century before he competed with George Stephenson in a trial of steam carriages in England, and later he had constructed the first screw-propelled naval vessel, the Princeton.

The day of the trial trip came and all the leading journalists and business men of New York were on board. On the way down the bay the steamer Baltic was passed coming into port from a transatlantic voyage.

Her passengers and crew looked with amazement upon the beautiful fabric that was gliding seaward, with no clanging of engines and no black clouds issuing from the small, handsomely painted cylinders that took the place of ugly smokestacks. She seemed to be breathing her way along.

The trip was a success. The Ericsson had made over ten miles an hour, with only a portion of her power brought into use. The next day the papers of the metropolis were loud in their praised of the inventor and his hot-air ship.

Henry J. Raymond wrote in the Times: "The age of steam has passed; the age of caloric has come." Ericsson was ranked above Fulton as a benefactor of mankiad.

But, alas, the inventor's triumph was short lived. A few weeks later another trip was made down the bay and on the return trip the ship was struck by a squall which caused her to careen and several of the ports on the lee side having been left open the water rushed into the empty hold and she filled and sank.

Later she was raised, and then Ericsson concluded that after all his caloric engines were not a success; the cylinders were not large enough, and he decided to take them out and replace them with steam.

This was done, and the vessel was used for several years on the line between New York and Havre, but she was never a popular vessel, and it is said that her owners lost a good deal of money on her.

When the war broke out she was chartered to the Government and was used as a transport to the South Atlantic squadron. She was in the Hilten Head expedition and was one of the steam vessels that conveyed the famous stone fleet to Charleston, where it was sunk on the bar, it being the expectation that the entrance could be closed in that way.

At the close of the war the engines were taken out and she was turned into a sailing vessel. Fifteen years ago the Ericsson sailed into the Bay City, and soon after was purchased by Capt. Plummer, who made a number of voyages in her to China.

Later she was put into the lumber trade on the northern coast, and for the past four or five years she has been carrying coal from Nanaimo to the Bay City. Two years ago she went ashore near the Cliff House, but was towed off undamaged.

The Ericsson was 1645 tons register, and built of the very best of selected live oak—a fact which accounts for her having passed through so many and varied vicissitudes unscathed.

VERNON AND VICINITY.

News of the Mining Settlements in Fertile Okanagan District.

The prospect of having the saw mill again in operation in a week or two more is encouraging to those who purpose building shortly. The machinery is all on the ground and the work of putting it in place is going on rapidly.

Several barrels of cider shipped to Vernon from the east got frozen hard coming through Manitoba and the Northwest and when they arrived here they were found to be in a solid instead of a liquid state.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Brent left for Victoria last week, where they purpose to reside in future. Mr. Brent is one of the old-timers of the famous Mission valley, and leaves the place where he has resided for the last 30 years bearing with him the good wishes of his neighbors.

Mr. Drennan, near Enderby, passed through town on Saturday last with a hay press which he was taking to White Valley. The large crops grown there last season will furnish abundance of work for the hay press, and no doubt considerable will be shipped from that section.

The work of building the new C.P.R. boat on Okanagan Lake has commenced. Mr. McKay, from Portland, Oregon, will superintend the building, and came on Saturday last to make all necessary arrangements. Some of the workmen came up on Monday, and the full gang will be put on in about a week.

Snow storms appear to have been general on the continent last week and the Okanagan also came in for a moderate share of the beautiful. For a day or two the temperature dropped until the glass recorded several degrees of frost, but the weather was bracing and on the whole was thoroughly enjoyable.

A number of the young men in town are taking steps to have a rink in operation this winter. They have secured the use of the vacant lots on Barnard avenue next to Martin Bros hardware store. By means of an embankment thrown up around the lots, a basin will be formed which when flooded will make a fine sheet of ice for skating and curling.

Mr. Theo. Kruger, customs officer at Osoyoos, has been busy during the past week in his official capacity with large shipments of goods going through to the new town of Oro on the American side. Mr. Kruger expected the work to take much longer, but as the whole cargoes checked off correctly with the bills, no trouble was experienced in passing them through. These goods all had to be checked over when transferred from the car to the boat, and again when they were delivered by the boat to the American teamsters at Penticton.

A great many pre-emptions have been made during the season in the Kettle river district, and the settlements on Boundary creek give promise of this being in a short time a very important part of the interior. The mines of Boundary creek are giving very good results, and what is now needed is proper communication with the outside, as well as wagon roads for the use of the settlers. The mailing facilities are at present no use, and with the increased number of settlers coming into the country this is felt more every week.

The first religious service ever held in Mara was conducted by the Rev. J. P. Hicks, of Enderby, on Wednesday evening, the 16th November, at the house of Messrs. Appleby and Eves. There were about twenty present. Though not one of the settlers in attendance were of the minister's denomination, a number expressed themselves to the effect that as Mr. Hicks was the only minister who had shown the settlers any consideration, they felt they could only repay his zeal by attending his church at Enderby should an opportunity occur.

SPEAKING FREELY!

The Truth Proclaimed!

A YOUNG MAN'S EXPERIENCE!

Wonderful! Interesting!

We have another interesting story this week—news that our people look for, because they are interested in a power and agency that is doing more good in Canada than all other agencies combined; we refer to Paine's Celery Compound, nature's restorer and health-giver.

A noted Canadian divine recently said: "Judging from my own experience and cure, and the testimony of many worthy people whom I know, I must say that God has particularly blessed our people in giving them what can truly be called a life-renewer. I once firmly believed in the power and ability of medical men, but Paine's Celery Compound will be my first choice in any case of sickness. I have seen our doctors fail, but have never yet known of a failure with the great Compound."

This now is supported by the testimonials of hundreds of our best people. These people are near us and with us and can be seen and spoken to. No questionable foreign letters are used to advance the interests of Paine's Celery Compound. Honest, true and attested letters of testimony come in daily from every section of our own Canada. Men and women pour out their thanks and praise in unstinted measure; and often ask how they can further advance the good cause.

Our story this week has reference to a young man who was snatched from the yawning grave by Paine's Celery Compound. His case was a bad one—hopeless it would have been, had he continued under ordinary treatment. Two great mediums of misery worked to drag him down to destruction.

An able English doctor has pronounced nervousness and dyspepsia to be the two greatest curses of our English speaking people. Every reader knows we have thousands of such in Canada. These two enemies of civillzation were fast dragging to to the grave Mr. P. M. English, of Nelson, New Brunswick. God's wonderous mercy pointed the sufferer to Paine's Celery Compound just in time to save his life. Medicines of the ordinary kind, doctors and the work of hospitals and foreign baths all failed. It remained for Paine's Celery Compound to save, strengthen and renew.

In order to prove what has been asserted, we ask our readers to carefully and prayerfully read Mr. English's letter. he says:—

"I am taking your Paine's Celery Compound for nervous trouble and dyspepsia, and find great relief from it.

Fifteen years ago I was taken sick in Philadelphia, which left me with a nervous trouble. I then went to the Southern States, and took chills and feever which made the nervous trouble worse and brought on dyspepsia. I took medicine for awhile without relief, then came back to Philadelphia and took treatment in the Episcopal Hospital there, which broke up the the chills and fever, but did not help my nerves much. I also took treatment there for some time from doctors without relief, and then went to Boston, and took treatment there in the leading hospitals with the best doctors, without receiving any benefit.

I had a business in Boston; my friends advised me to sell out and go to the Hot Springs, Arkansas. I sold out and went there, and took treatment from Doctor Taylor, and bathed in the Oyask bath-house, and after that in the Government bath house, or mud hole as it is called.

I found myself getting worse, and stopped bathing for awhile, and remained there six months without getting any better. Then went back to Boston, and from there to this place where I was born. I took treatment of various kinds here, and tried several doctors, but obtained no relief.

Three months ago I saw your Celery Compound advertised; I bought a bottle, and after taking a few doses found relief. I have now taken four bottles and find myself greatly improved; I have gained flesh, have a good appetite, sleep better, walk better, my eyesight is better, and my general health and nervous system is greatly improved. I am a young man, my weight is 180 pounds, so your medicine has given me new hope. There are plenty of reliable witnesses I could refer to here as well as in the United States that know of my case."

WHEN A WOMAN BUYS A HAT.

The Task Occupies a Long Time and She is Seldom Satisfied.

She was a young married woman, accredited with more than ordinary common sense. As an illustration of this she had waited until after the openings were over before buying her winter hat. No time had been lost, however, for she had studied the hat question in all its phases, and according to the New York World, knew exactly what she wanted.

It was to be a round hat and must not cost a penny over $8. For an hour or so she went from one shop to another, "just looking." Then came the "trying on." After pointing out three or four hats which particularly pleased her, she seated herself before the long mirror with a hand-glass in one hand and one of the hats in the other. This hat in her hand, was a beauty; but on her head it was the most unbecoming thing she had ever seen. The next hat was too large and was trimmed too conspicuously; the third too small and prim; the fourth cost too much.

The saleswoman's smiles were less frequent and the saleswoman herself less talkative. The buyer found herself growing irritable, but she congratulated herself that she was not making such a fuss as that woman in front of the narrow mirror. Then she wondered why that fat lady with a moon face insisted upon choosing the most ridiculously small bonnet, while the woman with a long and sharp face spent her time gazing at herself from beneath a broad brim with a towering mass of feathers above.

Suddenly she saw a jaunty turban. The coloring was stylish, and when she tried it on it was just what she needed. She was sure it was becoming because the saleswoman agreed with her that it was. Then it gave her a very comfortable feeling to know it only cost $7.50. And so even if she had spent six hours in getting it, together with incidentals amounting to 95 cents, she was satisfied, it seemed such a sensible investment.

After dinner that evening the hat came. One glance in her own mirror and oh! what a difference. It was the worst little hat; she couldn't see why she had bought it. She looked disfigured in it, and if she had to wear that hat all winter she would not go out at all. She put the hat in its bandbox, the box high upon the closet shelf, and then she cried.

A SLANDERER OF THE PROVINCE.

British Columbia has been coming in for some little discussion in the columns of the Glasgow Herald. In the issue of that paper dated November 11 appeared a letter over the signature of "Weathergage," the writer of which apparently exhausted his powers of abuse without being able to vilify the province as completely as he would like. The extent and accuracy of his knowledge may be judged from the fact that he reports the only good agricultural land in the whole province to be the tract at the mouth of the Fraser. Wheat and oats, he says, will not grow; and when the settler has by eight or ten years' hard work cleared 10 or 12 acres of land all he can raise on it is a little timothy hay or clover, "and that only on an acreage sufficient to feed a very few head of cattle through the winter." This paragraph of the letter is good enough to quote in full:—

The question naturally arises—"How do the settlers live there at all?" The answer is—The government feeds them. Every year a certain sum of money is appropriated for road making in each district, and most of the settlers can get work for a month or two at $2.50 per day building bridges, cutting trails or blowing up rocks. This money barely carries them through the winter, during which they work at clearing their own land, eking out the scanty sum with deer or other game killed in the woods, without which they would in all probability starve. When, as occassionally happens, the appropriation is small the settlers have at once to leave their holdings and start out of the country in search of work, which they are by no means sure to find, and on returning (if they ever do return) find the clearing again choked up with bushes and young trees, which grow a number of feet high in a single year.

To sum up briefly, all that Mr. "Weathergage" could find in British Columbia was scenery and fish, and on these he apparently could not subsist. It is difficult to imagine how any man could visit this province and honestly take away such false impressions of it. Easier is it to suppose that this man was deliberately lying, aided by a large and powerful imagination. However, his false testimony will probably not do much harm, because the Herald shortly afterwards published two letters offering very sharp corrections, one from Mr. Beeton, the London agent of the province, and the other from Mr. Wallace, formerly postmaster here. It is quite possible for men to come to British Columbia and do badly; no one in his senses would represent the province as a place where any sort of immigrant is certain to make his way. This being the case, we may well be alive to the danger of indiscriminate immigration. A few visitors such as "Weathergage" might do the province much harm by keeping away people of the right sort.

THE TARIFF.

Evidently there will be a heavy pressure brought to bear on the new Dominion Government to change the tariff. In past sessions the alterations made have been in the direction of higher duties, with perhaps the single exception of raw sugar. Even as late as last session Mr. Foster clapped a duty on eggs in order that he might take a few more thousands of dollars out of the pockets of British Columbians. But things have somewhat changed. The protectionists have become violently alarmed by the American revolt against McKinleyism, and many of them are now urging the Government to moderate the tariff a little, lest that patient animal the consumer should lose his temper and kick the protection cart to pieces. The coal oil duty must be removed, say several friends of the "national policy." The duty on refined sugar, now kept there for the benefit of the refiners, must be reduced, says even that high protectionist paper the Canadian Manufacturer. In a late number of the Monetary Times appears the following significant declaration:—"We Canadians cannot afford to be self-righteous over abuses which we have been copying, at a distance, it is true, but not a safe distance. We, also, have gone too far in the path of protection, though we are a long way in the rear of McKinley. In the regions of power the folly holds firm. From outside, pressure is continually used to force a still further advance of the protective column. Now it is a choice between a halt and disaster." We have a suspicion that when the Tory Government does begin to remove or reduce duties now imposed it will find itself in a sea of difficulties. It was easy to put on a tax here and a tax there for the benefit of certain good supporters, but when a proposal for reduction is made the fun will commence. We need look for no great measure of tariff reform from the Thompson Government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Whoever may be taken in or left out of the new Cabinet, that worthy knight Sir Adolphe Caron seems sure of his place in it. This is not so much because of his intrinsic value as because he would be a dangerous man to "bounce." It must be quite pleasant to Sir Hector Langevin, who was cast into outer darkness on account of his political sins, to see as great a sinner thus enjoying the light and warmth of the party's favor.

Says the Globe: "There is not even the excuse of ante-election excitement for the reiteration of the yarn that the Liberals, by advocating unrestricted reciprocity, proposed to put this country under the McKinley tariff.

"First, no Liberal leader that we know of proposed that Canada should be put under the American tariff at all.

"Second, when the agitation for unrestricted reciprocity began the McKinley bill had not even been heard of.

"Third, the McKinley bill had hardly been passed when it was condemned by the overwhelming vote of the American people.

"Fourth, it was anticipated by the most far-seeing statesmen in Canada that the McKinley tariff, so far from being a permanent condition, would be speedily abolished."

WITHOUT FOOD OR SHELTER.

The Crew of the Bankburn Walk the Streets of Victoria.

The Bankburn crew are walking the streets of Victoria without food or shelter. Last night they were given their walking ticket by Landlord Berrymen of the Occidental. Berryman has kept the men three weeks and has received no financial consideration. He says he cannot in justice to his business keep them longer. A TIMES man asked them what they were going to do?

"We'll do anything" One of the men spoke up for the rest. "We feel very hungry now. We have not had anything to eat since last night. We thought of going and asking the mayor to keep us, If we cannot get work or food I suppose we will have to go to jail."

And they walked on down Government street towards the city hall in search of Mayor Beaven.

NITINAT INDIAN TROUBLE.

The Police Abandon Their Proposed Trip to the West Coast.

The Provincial Government this afternoon decided not to send a posse up to the Nitinat, the scene of the Indian trouble. Why they changed their minds is not known. The police simply received word that they were not going and no special police men were needed.

There are several theories as to why the police were not sent. One is that the Government did not think that the row amounted to as much as reported, and another is that a steamer could not be obtained. The Quadra crew had been paid off and the ship dismantled for the season, so she could not be put into commission without some notice.

There was nothing new received today from the scene of the trouble. The report that Mr. Dakin, the lighthouse keeper, and his family were in danger was flatly contradicted.

WEARY OF THE LAW'S DELAY.

Waldeck, Discontent With British Courts of Justice, Waives Extradition.

Sunday morning will see Florian L. Waldeck, the alleged embezzler, on board the City of Puebla bound for the city of the Golden Gate. Waldeck is tired of English legal tactics. Last night he "threw up the cards." He waived extradition and if Justice Crease consents, will this evening be transferred to the custody of Detective Anthony, of San Francisco. Waldeck will sail on Sunday morning and Geo. Khan, the victim, and his office boy will arrive in Victoria by the Walla Walla on Sunday evening. The mission of Khan and the office boy will be fruitless. Detective Anthony is much "put out" that they should have been sent for. Waldeck is glad to leave British soil. He says the wheels of justice here want oiling. They move too slowly. His opinions of British institutions did not improve by his incarceration in the jail.

Waldeck had a set of sleeve links valued at $60. He wore them in prison. But they are now the ill-gotten property of another prisoner. He says what he has been robbed and cheated of since his advent in the Pacific province would keep an ordinary family very comfortably for a year. He never appreciated the liberties of an American citizen. He likes Victoria, he likes the people, he likes the climate, but he would rather be a thousand miles south. And his desire will doubtless be gratified.

A RED LETTER ENGAGEMENT.

Charles Dickson's Splendid Company a Revelation to Local Theatre Goers.

It is a pleasure to bestow praise upon such a company as that which appeared last night at the Victoria Theatre, headed by the inimitable Charles Dickson. Coming in the wake of the Duff Opera Company this really first-class organization had a small audience, but those who were present last evening received immeasurably better value for their money than those who attended the Duff Company performances. "Incog" is the best comedy seen here since "Jane," and is in many respects much superior to that delightful piece as a sheer laughter provoker, and is really a notable event in dramatic affairs in Victoria.

Last night a most amusing little one-act curtain raiser, "The Salt Cellar" preceded "Incog." In this capital morceau Mr. Dickson and Miss Maud Haslam completely captivated the audience and paved the way for their triumphs in the main piece. Mr. Dickson is rightly named the cleverest light comedian on the American stage. Miss Haslam is a rarely-endowed young lady. With a bright, intelligent and very pretty face; sparkling dark eyes and snowy teeth; a graceful, sylphie figure, a voice with the true ring in it, and vivacity and thorough sympathy with her work, and elegance in every movement, she made a splendid impression. The verve of the talented pair took the house by storm.

Miss Haslam's costumes are without doubt the richest, most tasteful and artistic seen on the Victoria stage for many a long day. The magnificent Nile green silk, with white and gold, worn by her in the last act is a poem.

"Incog" is piquant, full of delicate, biting wit, the true sal Atticum of the refined drama. The fun is simply delicious; poignant to a degree; some of it indeed caviare to the average man. Anyone who enjoys a play from which even the hint of coarseness or sensuousness is rigorously eliminated should see "Incog." It is the treat of months. It deals entirely with the savoir vivre of modern society, is full of delicate, racy satire upon the foibles of well-bred men and women and altogether too funny for detailed description. With every confidence the writer can say "don't miss it."

Mr. Dickson announced last night that owing to the scenery for "A Paltry Million" not arriving, and being indispensable to the presentation of that play, "Incog" would be presented again to-night with "The Man About Town" as a curtain raiser. In the latter piece Mr. Dickson's extraordinary versatility is displayed.

A Romance and Its Token.

The writer of this article remembers some forty years ago making the acquaintance of a very charming Irish gentleman and lady. One day she thought she observed that his eyes were resting inquiringly on her brooch, which was of gold, inclosing a mass of fractured bone. She laughed and said: "Are you admiring my brooch? I will tell you the story of it. One day, some ten years ago, when I was a young girl, I was staying in the house of a friend who also knew Mr. N., who is now my husband. We were having a game—a romp—and running after each other through the house, which was large, with long galleries and chambers communicating with one another. Mr. N. was close behind me, trying to catch me. I darted through a door and threw the door back behind me. Mr. N. had his head down, and the handle struck his skull and he fell stunned. The skull was fractured, and to save his life he was obliged to have it trepanned. Now he wears a plate of silver over the hole, and I wear the portion out of his skull in this brooch. The accident—I suppose my distress and remorse—brought about an approachment; we became engaged, and are now man and wife."—Cornhill.

They will issue a manifesto. The manifesto will be to the point and is intended to serve the same purpose as a programme.

Woods, J. W. Roland, wife and three children, Miss L. Robinson, J. H. Lowery, W. H. Brandom and wife, Mrs. T. P. H. Whitelaw, Mrs. Dowler, Mrs. M. A. Smith and H. B. Rogers.

The Sailing Fleet.

The bark Chili, Turner, Beeton & Co. consignors, is nearly loaded; the River Ganges, Findlay, Durham & Brodie consignors, is also almost ready to sail and the Frederick has just commenced to load for Robert Ward & Co., Limited. Besides these ships the Thermopylæ is unloading rice and the Planter is trimming her lumber cargo, and there are two ships in the roads seeking.

Premier Davie in New York.

This is the remarkable way in which the New York Herald referred to Premier Davie's New York visit: "Over a table in room No. 1 of the Astor House, where so many political schemes have been hatched, I had a long talk yesterday with Mr. Davie, Premier of British Columbia. He was here ostensibly in the interests of his Government, but a certain railroad scheme also occupied a good deal of his time and attention. The scheme is to use Hudson Bay as a waterway, by building a railroad from each of its shores respectively to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and thus save many miles of construction. He drew imaginary lines on the table and mapped it all out, so that any one could see with half an eye that it was not only a good but a great thing. And yet good, great and sure, as he told me everybody admitted it to be, he said that New York financiers advised him to float the stock in the English market. He seemed to think the money was rather a scarce article in New York. Is he right or wrong?"

Stranded Thespians' Benefit.

The Carra Morris Theatrical Company are stranded. They placed excellent entertainments before their patrons, but they could not fight up against the bad reputation left by former occupants of the Imperial Theatre. Meritable and honest they yet had to suffer. But they are not "beats" or "bill jumpers." They are prepared to pay their honest debts if they get a fair chance to do so. For this purpose a benefit entertainment has been arranged for Wednesday, 15th Dec., in the Victoria Theatre, through the kindness of Mr. John Cort, when, assisted by several clever local amateurs the company will present their best piece, "David Garrick." This is their strongest play, and their caste is specially constructed for it, and all the critics agree that they can do it full justice. All lovers of the theatre who wish to see a really interesting play should attend the benefit next Wednesday night. The Carra Morris company deserve a bumper house.

FIRE ON ESQUIMALT ROAD.

St. George's Inn Burned to the Ground late Last Night.

A fire alarm from box 61, at 10:30 last night was caused by the burning of St. George's Inn, formerly the Bush Tavern, situate on the Esquimalt road. The proprietor, B. Carter, with his family was in bed at the time and the barkeeper was closing up for the night. The man dropped a lamp on the counter and the burning oil set fire to the building, which was alight from one end to the other in a few minutes. The barkeeper awakened Mr. Carter, who, with the assistance of the neighbors, carried out a piano valued at $300, with a few other articles. The building was owned by W. Rothwell and was valued at $800. The furniture was insured in the Union of Manchester, W. Monteith agent, for $900. Although the building was inside the city limits it was not deemed advisable to take the fire apparatus so far from the business district. The chief and a number of firemen with a squad of city police went to the fire, but could do nothing. Victoria West is without protection from fire.

Regarding Travellers.

Magistrate Macrae has taken the alleged illegal selling of liquor after hours at the Driard to George Slater of Montreal under consideration. A verdict will be rendered on Tuesday. Lawyer Mills in the police court this morning based his claim to dismissal of the case upon the ground that Mr. Slater, though he was several days in Victoria, did not cease to be a traveller, and that a traveller, according to the law, was permitted to be served with liquor at any time.

The Rigby tweed really is thoroughly waterproof.

JERUSALEM THE HOLY.

A Visit to What is Unquestionably the Most Interesting City in the World.

The Site of Solomon's Temple, the Bethlehem Road and Other Historic Places.

What city in the world has connected with it such a crowd of immortal memories! By the Arabs it is called El Kuds (The Holy), and it is yet, despite the vicissitudes of time, the great world center of religion. There are cities more picturesque, cities possessing more extensive ruins, cities of greater commercial importance, cities which are the repositories of vast treasures of art and literature, but none of such vast importance in the development of human civilization. From the heights of the Acropolis at Athens came forth glorious art and philosophy and eloquence.

MOSQUE OF OMAR.

From the heights of the seven hills at Rome came forth the splendid discipline of law and the mailed hand of Roman power and organization, but from the hills of Moriah and from the heights of Calvary there has come forth to the world the spectacle of the perfect life, and the Gospel of human brotherhood and the love of God.

A steady stream of travel sets toward Jerusalem, especially in the winter and spring months. The usual route is by steamer via Alexandria to Jaffa. Leaving Port Said in the evening the next morning early the coast line of Judea with the hills beyond is seen. At Jaffa there is no harbor, and landing can be made only in fair weather. Even then the ship rolls heavily. A line of cruel rocks against which the waves dash with great violence tell that this is a dangerous coast. Little boats shoot through an opening in the rocks and carry the steamer's cargo and passengers to the shore. I counted thirty-seven boats pulling for the steamer, manned by sinewy Arab boatmen. From Jaffa to Jerusalem is about forty-five miles, which by horse takes about two days with a night at Ramleh. But soon a railroad will be completed. Already the rails are laid 25 miles, and next year the Plain of Sharon will hear the shriek of the steam whistle. This may take much of the poetry out of the Palestine journey, but the march of the steam engine means better communication.

One of the first items of a stay in Jerusalem is to visit the site of the ancient temple, on which is now built the mosque of Omar and the mosque of El Aksa. To visit the Haram area or the precincts of the mosque of Omar one must be accompanied by a karawas, or a guide from the consul of his respective country. He must also be accompanied by a Turkish soldier, no one being allowed in the sacred enclosure without such attendance. Securing our escort, we passed down through the bazars and were soon at the Haram area. This is an extensive rectangular level space, several acres in extent. Upon it are numerous buildings, large and small, with here and there cypress and other trees. On the west side eight gates and on the north three lead up by stairs to a slightly elevated platform, on which are the chief buildings, the mosque of Omar and the mosque of El Aksa.

What strange feelings come over us as we reflect that on this site was located the temple of Solomon, and its successors, the temple of Zerubbabel and the temple of Herod! The "Mosque of Omar," as it is called, is not properly a mosque, but a prayer station. It is a graceful building, octagonal in form. With its fine dome surmounted with gilded crescent, its exterior walls covered with blue Persian tiles and inscribed with sentences from the Koran, its delicate arches, its beautiful lattice work, the structure is a delight to the eye. To the Mohammedan the interior of the place of prayer is very holy, and one dare not enter with sandaled feet. Taking off our shoes we passed into the interior in our stockings. The interior is marvelously rich in its general effect, with its harmonious stained glass, its intricate tracery, and above all the lofty blue canopy of the great dome. In the very center, screened off by an iron screen, is the rugged mass of the native rock of Mount Moriah, perhaps the very spot where Araana the Jebusite had his threshing floor. The Mohammedans consider this rock a very sacred spot, the center of the earth, whence flow the rivers of Paradise. They say that when Mohammed ascended to heaven from the summit of this rock the angel Gabriel seized it and held it down. "Look," said the white turbaned Moslem who recounted these legends, "there is the print of the prophet's foot and also the print of Gabriel's fingers." Sure enough, there were clearly visible indentations which resembled such prints. Near by in the floor was shown a slab of jaspar, originally said to contain nineteen nails which the prophet drove in. When all these nails are pulled out the end of the world will appear. The devil pulls one of these nails out when he can get a chance. Only three and a half still remain. As we moved about men were praying here and there, but did not seem to be disturbed by our presence.

Thence we visited the Mosque of El Aksa, which was formerly a Christian basilica, erected by Justinian in the sixth century, and then descended into the vaults beneath the temple area, which are called the "stables of Solomon." Here we saw some of the immense stones of the ancient temple wall with the peculiar cutting called the Jewish bevel. Some of these stones are huge indeed. No wonder the disciples said to the Master: "See what stones are here!" Here is a wonderful field for investigation and study. A vast literature has been written on the temple area and the walls of Jerusalem. Authorities differ greatly, but there can be no doubt that on this site was the temple of Solomon and its successors. Twenty-seven times has Jerusalem been besieged and taken and several times destroyed. It has been thoroughly filled up with rubbish and every landmark except the bare rock has been swept away.

The next object of interest was the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, built over the supposed site of the tomb of our Lord. As we approached the church we noticed in the square in front a great number of venders of crosses, beads, pictures, etc., squatted on the ground. Entering, we were first confronted by a large stone slab over which was an elaborate canopy inside of which hung a number of large golden lamps. Many people were kissing the stone. This is said to be the place where Christ was laid after he was taken down from the cross. Going up a flight of stairs to the right we saw a recess, containing a rock in which was a gold star over a square hole let into the rock. This they say is the socket where the cross was placed. On the same level is shown the "tomb of Adam," cut in the rock.

Below under the great dome of the church is a small marble structure or chapel before and around which hang numerous beautiful gold and silver lamps. Inside of this reached through a low door is the "Holy Sepulchre" itself. Within is a slab indicating the tomb. Over this slab hang forty-three silver lamps, thirteen each for the Greeks, Latins and Armenians, and four for the Copts. Below the main floor is a cavern called the chapel of St. Helena where she is said to have found the true cross. Here are shown also the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea and the tombs of Joseph the Greek, Latin, Armenian, and Coptic Monks divide this church among them. Often has their fanaticism come to blows and hence is explained the presence of Turkish soldiers in the church, to keep peace among the Christians.

The effect of all these fictitious sacred sites is at first to disgust the devout Christian as he witnesses the hostility of warring sects and ignorant credulity with which they accept the statements of their monkish instructors. Yet, while the site of Calvary, the place of burial and many other localities are uncertain, there can be no doubt whatever that here, in the ancient city of this site, Jesus taught and suffered and died. The mount of Olives, where he sat and taught and under whose trees he endured the agony, is there in all its grandeur. Here we meditated one beautiful Sabbath afternoon.

Before and below us lay the city over which from these very slopes he wept as he beheld it. Between us lay the valley of Jehoshaphat with the tomb of Absalom, the pyramid of Zechariah and the tomb of James. Yonder out of St. Stephen's gate came the procession which hailed him with hosannas. No one knows definitely the site of Gethsemane. It was, however, undoubtedly upon this mountain.

Elevated above all the legends and superstitions which ignorant zeal has thrown about these places, the intelligent Christian will find his visit to Jerusalem an increasing source of instruction, and as his journey leads him to traverse the land he will find that the land, the Book, Palestine and the Bible are so related that his faith in the historic verity of the record is strengthened at every step. AMOS W. PATTEN.

Bismarck's Boast at a Banquet.

While he was the guest of the artists of Munich at their club house recently Prince Bismarck drank the "draught of welcome" from a huge pewter jug holding a gallon and a half of beer. He did not empty it, but took occasion to say: "I can drain the jug at one draught, as Burgomaster von Rothenburg did and saved the city thereby." No one cared to dispute the boast, for the fame of Bismarck's achievements in that line is widespread in the fatherland and his prowess unquestioned.—New York World.

A $1,500 Fire.

The St. George Inn, Esquimalt road, was totally destroyed by fire last night. Damage $1500; insurance $1200, in the Manchester Union. The fire occurred about 10:30 and was probably caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp.

A Fruit Social.

Fruit social last night by the Junior Epworth League of Pandora Avenue Methodist church. Several new members were enrolled. A pleasing programme was rendered.

The Mother Was Astonished.

Very recently a loving mother was informed by the family physician, that her baby was suffering from indigestion.

The mother was very much alarmed when told the truth. She imagined that indigestion was a trouble that came only to grown people.

Thousands of young infants in Canada are suffering from indigestion brought on by poor and improper dieting. Cow's milk, imperfectly prepared artificial foods, oatmeal and flour porridge, all these will often produce indigestion.

An infant's weak digestive organism requires a food that can be easily digested and assimilated.

Mothers now have such a life-giving and healthy food near at hand. It is known as Lactated Food, and is sold by all druggists. Careful and honest physicians prescribe it daily, and grand results follow its use.

Indigestion and constipation are quickly banished when Lactated Food is fed to the infant; it becomed rosy cheeked, vigorous, hearty and happy.

If you have not yet given this grand food a trial, dear mother, it is your duty to do so; it will surely do for your darling all that you can hope and wish for.

For fine ball programmes, invitation, wedding and visiting cards, and all kinds of commercial work, maps, checks, billheads, letter and note heads color labels, etc., etc., go to to the Victoria Lithograph Co., cor. Land Sale

—BY—

AUCTION

—IN—

Pitt Meadows

—BY—

A. M. BEATTIE.

MARKET HALL, VANCOUVER,

—ON—

Tuesday, December 20,

At 2 p.m., about 1150 acres of the famous Pitt Meadows Lands, in Lots of 18 to 40 acres, to the highest bidder.

REMARKABLE.

This section of country is remarkable:
1st. For its fertility.
2nd. For its close proximity to railroads and water communication to the business centres of the province.
3rd. All the land for sale has been dyked and proved to the public a perfect success. The soil is the richest possible, and the land can only be obtained at public auction, the Dyking Company having decided to place it on the market in this way only. Read the Terms.

PROSPECTS.

The prospects of these lands are large for buyers at this sale.
1st. There is no doubt that at this season of the year the land will sell for less than it is actually worth.
2nd. Buyers will be able to put in a crop and reap a large return next autumn.
3rd. This coming summer will witness Three Direct Steamers from the Fraser River to Vancouver, and they will all stop at Pitt Meadows, it being the intention of a local company to build a new vessel for this route.
4th. I would call the public attention to the fact that a company contemplates putting through the Pitt River Canal, thereby placing Pitt Meadows at the entrance to the city of Vancouver—only a few miles from the best market in the province—where river steamers will ply to and fro daily.

☞ If you want a home think these matters over carefully. Get some of the land the first sale, for

YOU WILL NEVER BUY AS CHEAP AGAIN.

TERMS: One-fourth cash, balance in 1, 2 and 2½ years. Only 7 per cent. interest on deferred payments. Ten per cent. at the fall of the hammer, balance of first payment within 15 days, when agreements will be ready for execution, at the Market Hall.

N.B.—Lithographed Maps and Plans will be ready in a few days for distribution, or can be obtained by applying to the auctioneer.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

An Appeal from the B. C. Benevolent Society for Assistance from the City.

Other Matters of Less Importance Disposed of by the Board Last Evening.

The Board of Aldermen met last evening Mayor Beaven in the chair and the aldermen with the exception of Ald. Hunter being present.

Tenders for laying stone crossings were read. The prices ranged from $2.24 to $3.27 per lenial foot. The lowest tender was from J. E. Phillips. The tenders were referred to the city engineer.

The report of the city assessor and city engineer on the proposal to widen View street was received. The estimated cost of the work was $3940.

Ald. McKillican was of opinion that a sufficiently large area had not been taken in by the engineer and assessor. They should have gone above Cook street to assess the property to be benefitted by the improvement.

The Mayor explained that the by-law said the assessor and engineer were to decide as to what property was benefited.

Ald. McKillican thought the report might be referred back to the officers.

Ald Munn also considered the area taken in as being too small. This had been the cause of the failure of the Birdcage walk by-law. If some of the by streets had been assessed, the by-law would not have been opposed.

Ald. Hall was of the same opinion.

On motion of Ald. McKillican the report was received, approved and adopted.

The finance committee reported that they had considered the B. C. Terra Cotta and Pottery Company's request for $2750 held by the council as security, and recommend that the amount be retained until a more satisfactory arrangement could be arrived at between the corporation and the company.

Ald. McKillican considered this unfair as the city now holds $7000 worth of pipe belonging to the company. He moved that the matter be referred to the committee, the Mayor and city barristers, with a request to effect a settlement if possible. Carried.

A recommendation of the sanitary committee to remove the old windmill at Ross Bay cemetery was adopted.

The finance committee reported that they could not recommend the purchase of Captain Rudlin's strip of land at the head of Johnson street. If the strip was purchased, the council would also have to purchase similar strips from Mr. F. Norris and Mr. John Dooley. There was also a possibility of an obstruction from Mr. Decosmos. The report was adopted.

The application of Mr. A. C. Anderson for the use of a portion of Beacon Hill park for the James Bay junior football team was reported upon favorably by the park committee. There is is a condition, however, that no claim for exclusive use of the ground will be entertained.

Ald. Hall called attention to the petition for the completion of a box drain on Niagara street.

The Mayor pointed out that work had been stopped on several drains on account of the want of funds.

Ald. Lovell requested an explanation of an incident he had witnessed on Moss street. He had seen corporation workmen hauling gravel from the street to private property.

Ald. Styles explained that the street drain was defective. Mr. Angus' property had been flooded and he had been authorized to take gravel from the city's pit to mend the damage. But it was not understood that city workmen were to do the work.

Ald. Baker said if what Ald. Lovell said was true Mr. Angus should be made to pay for the work. He had simply been given permission to take the gravel at his own cost.

A petition for a sidewalk from Oak Bay avenue to Foul Bay road was considered.

The petition was adopted and Ald. Styles promised to make arrangements to have the work done under the local improvement by-law.

Petitions for a crossing in front of the James Bay Athletic Club building and from James Bay bridge to Birdcage Walk were read. It was explained that this work has already been arranged for.

Mr. W. H. Mason, secretary of the B. C. Benevolent Association called the attention of the council to the large number of indigent people who are dumped and who have drifted to Victoria. He said a great many of these people are sent to the society for relief, and while common humanity demands that something should be done to relieve their distress, it has become beyond the association's capability to cope with the situation and give it the attention which a Christian community ought to give it."

"The persons I refer to," added Mr. Mason, "are almost all in a state of utter destitution—without food, shelter or sufficient clothing. many of them in such a state of disease, dirt and general degradation, that we are lost in wonder at such a state of affairs being allowed to continue without some constituted authority taking steps to mitigate the evil. I am, therefore, asked to respectfully request that your honorable body will devise some means to aid in assisting in the distressing cases referred to.

Several old, influential and worthy citizens, who had done much to relieve distress among the poor for years past, notably Mrs. W. J. McDonald, had suggested that the Provincial Government and the city corporation should take the matter in hand jointly, and that a portion of the immigration sheds, or some similar place, be used for the relief of such persons."

In conclusion the letter suggests that some of the persons now enjoying comfortable quarters in the Old Folks' Home were unworthy, and ought to be drafted out so as to make room for old people who have led respectable lives, and who, through adverse circumstances, now find themselves in poverty.

The Mayor, after explaining the objects of the society and the manner in which the work of looking after the poor was done, said that as Mayor he had often asked the co-operation of the society in cases brought before him. He had always found the members of the society willing to do all that they could to help. He would like the council to make a respectable grant towards the funds of the society. The charitable fund was not yet exhausted.

On motion of Ald. Munn the matter was referred to the Mayor and finance committee to decide what amount should be voted for the society. The mover explained, however, that there were none but deserving cases in the Old Folk's Home.

Ald. Humber wished to know if the promoters of the Victoria & Sydney Railway Company were going to supply the work they promised the workmen this winter, if they secured their charter.

Mayor Beaven had not heard of any breach of the conditions.

The Serpentine Dance.

The "serpentine dance," which dance makers and dancers evolved last season as a rival to the accordeon skirt dance, was the principal attraction at Kerman's Monumental Theatre, says the Baltimore American. The serpentine dance would be better named a skirt dance, for the skirt plays a prominent part. The main feature of the serpentine consists in turning and twirling a voluminous silken skirt, which contains innumerable yards of material, about the body until its folds are all in motion, and writhe and coil in and out like a huge serpent. Novelty was given to the performance by having the dance executed by four dancers, who noiselessly moved through the graceful figures of the dance, their long skirts gleaming out under the changing tints of colored calcium lights. The evening's entertainment was given by Turner's English girls. The performance included also a number of specialty acts, in many of which the "English Girls" displayed their skill in dancing. The dance alluded to will be a notable feature of the performance of Turner's English Gaiety Girls, at the Victoria Theatre on Monday Evening, Dec. 6.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, high Illuminating power unequalled by any other bituminous Gas Coal in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite, especially for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal; makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay where ships of the lagest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean Steamers.

EMPRESS JOSEPHINE'S OLD HOME

Efforts to Preserve Historic Malmaison From Falling Into Vandal Hands.

London Telegraph.]

Further efforts are being made to preserve historic Malmaison, once the residence of the Empress Josephine, from falling into the hands of some nineteenth century vandal, who would probably demolish it in order to raise "jerry-built" suburban villas on its site. The old palace is in a rather bad condition, being destitute of furniture, tapestry, and proper ornamentation. The two facades, one on the courtyard and the other on the garden, are in a tolerably good condition, as well as the windows, staircases and ceilings.

The rooms might be easily re-arranged in their old order and style. The vast porch, the dining room, with its figures of nymphs, marble floor, and fountain, the council chamber shaped liked a military tent, the library, the salon of the Empress Josephine with the bed room attached, are in a fair state of preservation. Malmaison Park has already been cut up for building lots, and several small houses with gardens now exist on the property.

The place was purchased in September, 1798, by Josephine, for £6400—paid partly out of her marriage portion and partly out of the military allowance of her husband, then General Bonaparte. When First Consul Napoleon spent his leisure hours at Malmaison, and in the early days of the First Empire the place was for Josephine what the Petit Trianon was for Marie Antoinette — an agreeable change from palatial splendor. After the death of Josephine in May, 1814, Malmaison had no occupants of note until Napoleon returned there for a few days before his last exile. Prince Eugene de Beauharnais looked after the property during his lifetime, but in 1826 his heirs sold it to a Swedish banker. In 1841 Queen Maria Christina of Spain bought it and sold it in 1861 for £44,000 to the Emperor Napoleon III., who made a present of it to the State. Under the Third Republic Malmaison has been neglected and allowed to lapse into its present deplorable condition. It was sold to private persons and now awaits other owners, who may not be inclined to convert it into a Napoleonic museum, as is suggested by those desirous of seeing it preserved among the "historic monuments of France."

A Close Call for His Life.

The funniest incident and the closest shave for life I ever saw were combined at a corner-stone laying in Newark. The corner-stone was a very large one. It was swinging in the grasp of a powerful crane above the hole left for it to fit in. Down in this hole an Irishman was fussing about with a bed of mortar. Suddenly a portion of the tackle slipped and down came the stone with a run. It lit on the Irishman's back, and everybody expected to see him flattened out thin as paper when the stone was lifted half a minute later. No sooner was the stone clear of the hole though than the man sprang up like a jack in the box. He was covered with mortar from head to foot, and was coughing, sneezing and spitting to get it out of his nose and mouth. As soon as he could speak he addressed the men managing the crane. "Here now! Here now!" he yelled. "Oi can stand a joke as well as any mon, but any of yees can have me job afther thot," and he put on his coat and went away, persuaded the highly respectable assemblage had put up a job on him.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Return to Race.

We commonly call life the years that lie between that vague and unremembered moment of birth and that incredible and distant moment of death. This is but a kind of convention, for really what we mean by our life is that which is conscious and individual. If we do not mean this individual period we may logically count our life as beginning in past generations of our kin, and if we do mean the individual period we are not quite logical in counting as part of our life those latter years in which we return to our race and are less ourselves than our race.

Members of a family resemble each other physically as they enter middle life, and still more as they approach old age; and this will apply not only to brothers and sisters, but to cousins and distant relatives. Who, indeed, has not remarked the curiously close resemblance borne by members of a family to each other in death, when, the individual will and intelligence being past, the type is left to assert itself?

I remember a striking instance of the resemblance of relatives in middle life. I stood once at a window with the blind half drawn down and saw a lady passing on the opposite side of the street; the blind hid her nearly to her knees. I said to myself, "How that person's motion reminds me of Mrs. L——. If she had not been ten years in her grave, I should say that it was she." I pulled up the blind. The lady who was passing was well-known to me. She was a not very near cousin of Mrs. L——'s, whose resemblance to her I had never before noticed. It had probably earlier been unapparent.

The physical return to race has its strong mental correspondence. Ordinary people in middle life become more like their race than like themselves, and in old age sometimes it is the race alone that exists in them.

It would seem that individuality is more apparent than real, for it is, at least, of short duration, and the test of greatness is in the vitality of this individuality, the power to endure a few years longer than the common—long enough to effect something. Yet even in the greatest this separateness is short lived, and ordinarily, out of the threescore years and ten, twenty are spent in ripening to a consciousness that at last bursts the bonds of race to live its own life for twenty years, and the thirty remaining years are spent in gradual return to the bonds from which the individual had freed himself.—The Cosmopolitan.
